Place of Crying Judy Witt, 2017-07-17 INKABA YAKHO IPHI WHERE IS YOUR NAVEL Three stories those of the Xhosa and the Khoikhoi tribes the British soldiers and the settlers and the burghers and the Boers are told in parallel Her Khoikhoi mother had named her Coti after the wife of Cagn the supreme god of the San people Her skin shone like gold the skin of the San He had been watching as she bathed in the lagoon blinded by her sleek beauty as she stepped out The fading sunlight on the water drops covered her golden skin like jewels Coti gasped when she saw him He was Tshane great great grandson of a Xhosa chief and named after one of the first Rharhabe Xhosa kings or paramount supreme chiefs His mother was from the Gcaleka Xhosa clan Tshane represented the amaXhosa the fierce people of Xhosa He was magnificent as he stood still and tall a warrior black as ebony his toned muscles rippled He was nervous She was not afraid of him She prayed now to the wise and powerful Tsui Goab the Khoi supreme god to protect her from Guanab the cunning god of evil Her grandmother had warned that this was an evil love brought about by the trickster god Haitza Aibib Haitza Aibib could change his form at will Was he the fish eagle that had thrown the cloud over her Lt Ian Bentley sat his horse on a hill overlooking the coastal foothills of the Amatola Mountains From his position he had a good view of the sea and also the Xhosa village below him It was baking hot under the African sun and he looked forward to the cool evening He sweated in his thick red tunic made for cooler climates and his horse fidgeted from the flies Taking his eyeglass from his tunic he focused on the village below Conraad du Randt the burghers leader raised his arm for silence Yes my people First they free the slaves and tell us to pay them Now they have equality before the law These heathens are our subordinates damned in the eyes of God Given to us to teach them Christian ways Our land Our lifestyle Is God given and earned by conquest Adult Crying Ad J.J.M.

Vingerhoets,Randolph R. Cornelius,2012-12-06 Crying is a typical human expression of emotion Surprisingly until now little scientific attention has been devoted to this phenomenon Many textbooks on emotion fail to pay attention to it and in scientific journals there are hardly any contributions focusing on this behavior In contrast there is much interest from the lay public allowing pseudo scientists to formulate theories that have little or no scientific basis Is there any evidence in support of statements that crying is healthy or that not crying may result in toxification How do people react to the crying of others Is crying important for the diagnosis of depression and if so how This book aims to fill this gap in scientific literature Crying is discussed from several perspectives and specific attention is given to methodological issues and assessment Each chapter provides a review and a summary of the relevant scientific literature City of Noise Aimee Boutin,2015-05-15 Beloved as the city of light Paris in the nineteenth century sparked the acclaim of poets and the odium of the bourgeois with its distinctive sounds Street vendors bellowed songs known as the Cris de Paris that had been associated with their trades since the Middle Ages musicians itinerant and otherwise played for change and fl neurs writers fascinated with the city s underside listened and recorded much about what they heard Aim e Boutin tours the sonic space that orchestrated the different often conflicting sound cultures that defined the street ambience of Paris Mining accounts that range from guidebooks to verse Boutin braids literary cultural and social history to reconstruct a lost auditory environment Throughout impressions of street noise shape writers sense of place and perception of modern social relations As Boutin shows the din of the Cris contrasted economic abundance with the disparities of the capital old and new traditions and the vibrancy of street commerce with an increasing bourgeois demand for quiet In time peddlers who provided the soundtrack for Paris s narrow streets yielded to modernity with its taciturn shopkeepers and wide open boulevards and the fading songs of the Cris became a dirge for the passing of old ways Silence in the Land of Logos Silvia Montiglio,2010-05-17 In ancient Greece the spoken word connoted power whether in the free speech accorded to citizens or in the voice of the poet whose song was thought to know no earthly bounds But how did silence fit into the mental framework of a society that valued speech so highly Here Silvia Montiglio provides the first comprehensive investigation into silence as a distinctive and meaningful phenomenon in archaic and classical Greece. Arguing that the notion of silence is not a universal given but is rather situated in a complex network of associations and values, Montiglio seeks to establish general principles for understanding silence through analyses of cultural practices including religion, literature, and law. Unlike the silence of a Christian before an ineffable God, which signifies the uselessness of words, silence in Greek religion paradoxically expresses the power of logos; for example, during prayer and sacrifice, it serves as a shield against words that could offend the gods. Montiglio goes on to explore silence in the world of the epic hero, where words are equated with action and their absence signals paralysis or tension in power relationships. Her other examples include oratory, a practice in which citizens must balance their words with silence in very complex ways in order to show that they do not abuse their right to speak. Inquiries into lyric poetry, drama, medical writings, and historiography round out this unprecedented study, revealing silence as a force in its own right.
