The Archive of Feelings Peter Stamm, 2023-12-05 Given a second chance with an old love a coolly detached archivist questions the life he could have had and whether it is not too late to live it A poignant ingeniously constructed new novel from one of Europe's most exciting writers New York Times Book Review Forty years ago almost a lifetime he confessed his love to a classmate and close friend Franziska Now living in his late mother's house with the obsolete archive of the newspaper he once worked for he looks back on days spent poring over files and clippings increasingly withdrawn from the world His occasional relationships never amounted to anything and the memory of Franziska who became pop singer Fabienne continues to haunt him as she appears in the media When the two cross paths again the possibility of a different life feels achingly real But should he risk the comfort of his ordered existence for a romance that might never match what he imagined A subtle mesmerizing portrait of late blooming passion The Archive of Feelings showcases Peter Stamm at his best

Researching with Feeling Caroline Clarke, Mike Broussine, Linda Watts, 2014-10-10 Why should researchers be interested in their feelings and emotions as they carry out research Emotion is what it is to exist to be human and is present in every sphere of our lives All activities are infused with emotion even those that are constructed as rational because rationality and emotionality are interpenetrated and entwined because all thinking is tinged with feeling and all feeling is tinged with thinking This book illuminates the emotional processes of doing social and organizational research and the implications of this for the outcomes of research With contributions from leading academics and research practitioners it addresses the significant issue of the sometimes intense emotional experiences involved in doing research and the implications it has for the theory and practice of social research By examining the nature of feelings and emotions it explores how we might understand researchers emotions and experiences and considers the often powerful feelings encountered in a variety of research contexts Topics discussed include power relations psycho social explanations of researcher emotions paradoxical relations with research participants and the sometimes disturbing data that is gained research supervision the politics of research gender publishing undergoing vivas and presenting at conferences This book will therefore be a valuable companion to researchers and research students from the start of their career onwards Emotion Online J.

Garde-Hansen, K. Gorton, 2013-05-28 Travelling through theories of emotion and affect this book addresses the key ways in which media studies can be brought to bear upon everyday encounters with online cultures and practices The book takes stock of where we are emotionally with regard to the Internet in the context of other screen media Self and Affect Stefan

Lang, Maik Niemeck, 2025-01-11 The self self awareness and emotions are central subjects within contemporary philosophy of mind but comparatively little attention has been paid to the relationships between them This volume brings together philosophers from different specialisms to explore these relationships from three different angles First whether a theory of self awareness can contribute to a theory of emotion including how different aspects and kinds of self awareness are related to different emotions Second from the opposite direction whether research into emotions can help achieve a better understanding of self consciousness Finally the book considers how emotions are involved in the nature and development of selves Self and Affect is essential reading for all scholars and researchers of the philosophy of mind especially those focussing on emotions and self awareness
