A Labour History Of Waterford:

A Labour History of Waterford Emmet O'Connor, 1989 A Labour History of Ireland, 1824-1960 Emmet O'Connor, 1992 This overview of Irish labour history serves both as an introduction for the general reader and as a synopsis for the specialist Its basic concern is to outline the course of labour history to illustrate the different phases of its chronology and to determine the forces behind its development It also investigates some of the most persistent questions surrounding the history of labour in Ireland including why labour marginalized in disaffected 19th century Ireland and why nationalism presented such a problem in the 20th century Waterford's Anglicans Eugene Broderick, 2009-10-02 This book explores the religious political and social fortunes of Waterford's minority Church of Ireland community during a turbulent period in Irish history In the decades under consideration an emerging and strident Catholic democracy eroded the power and social position of a once powerful ruling class Waterford's fearful and confused Anglicans took refuge and found consolation in a community which defined itself increasingly in denominational terms This denominationalism came to be characterised by its Protestant evangelicalism and loyalty to the union with Britain A unique insight is given into provincial Anglicanism with a detailed examination of the character of its religious life and practice There is a particular focus on one of the most controversial figures in the nineteenth century Anglican Church Robert Daly Bishop of Waterford 1843-1872 Described by a contemporary as a Protestant Pope this cleric inspired admiration and loathing as he strove to resist the advances of an increasingly confident and vibrant Catholic Church Studies of bishops of the nineteenth century Protestant Church have been largely conspicuous by their absence but this book makes a valuable and original contribution to a glaring hole in this area of historiography This study of Waterford's Anglicans adds significantly to our understanding of the nature of Irish Protestantism at a time of crisis and decline Labour History Review Society for the Study of Labour History, 2003

New Directions in Irish-American History Kevin Kenny, 2003 The writing of Irish American history has been transformed since the 1960s This volume demonstrates how scholars from many disciplines are addressing not only issues of emigration politics and social class but also race labor gender representation historical memory and return both literal and symbolic to Ireland This recent scholarship embraces Protestants as well as Catholics incorporates analysis from geography sociology and literary criticism and proposes a genuinely transnational framework giving attention to both sides of the Atlantic This book combines two special issues of the journal Irish America with additional new material The contributors include Tyler Anbinder Thomas J Archdeacon Bruce D Boling Maurice J Bric Mary P Corcoran Mary E Daly Catherine M Eagan Ruth Ann M Harris Diane M Hotten Somers William Jenkins Patricia Kelleher Liam Kennedy Kerby A Miller Harvey O'Brien Matthew J O'Brien Timothy M O'Neil and Fionnghuala Sweeney Essays in Irish Labour History Francis Devine, Fintan Lane, Niamh Puirseil, 2008 Essays in Irish Labour History is a tribute to the late Professor John W Boyle University of Guelph Canada and a leading practitioner of Irish labour history and his late wife Elizabeth Boyle's specialism was in nineteenth century labour history with a particular emphasis on Dublin and Belfast cities to which he had academic and personal attachments and these interests are well reflected in this book The history of labour in Ulster is especially well covered as is that of Protestant workers throughout the island The collection also includes substantial scholarly articles that reflect ongoing research and areas that have thus far been neglected such as the place for casual labour in nineteenth century Ireland and the impact of religion on the Irish Labour Party 1922-73 The range of topics is broad and includes an obituary essay on the Boyles and an interrogation of Irish historiography and the working class Historical Directory of Trade Unions Arthur Marsh, 2016-12-05 Despite widespread interest in the trade union movement and its history it has never been easy to trace the development of individual unions especially those now defunct or where name changes or mergers have confused the trail In this respect the standard histories and industrial studies tend to stimulate curiosity rather than satisfy it When was a union founded When did it merge or dissolve itself or simply disappear What records survive and where can further details of its history be found These are the kinds of question the Directory sets out to answer Each entry is arranged according to a standard plan as follows 1 Name of union 2 Foundation date Name changes if any and relevant dates Any amalgamation or transfer of engagements Cessation winding up or disappearance with date and reasons where appropriate and available 3 Characteristics of membership leadership policy outstanding events membership numbers 4 Sources of information books articles minutes etc location of documentation The Origins of Modern Irish Socialism, 1881-1896 Fintan Lane, 1997 It is commonly believed that James Connolly initiated modern Irish socialism when he founded the Irish Socialist Republican Party in May 1896 This book challenges that myth by making available for the first time a detailed history of the beginnings of modern Irish socialism Based on original sources this study traces the development of socialism in Ireland from the influence of William Thompson Marx and the First International through to the arrival of Connolly and the struggle for independence The author explores the radicalizing element of the land war the impact of British socialism in Ireland and the emergence of socialist organizations in Dublin He also examines the leading role played by socialists in the politicization of the labour movement and charts their changing position in relation to Irish independence Politics and the Irish Working Class, 1830-1945 Donal Ó Drisceoil, F. Lane, 2005-09-30 This book is the first ever collection of scholarly essays on the history of the Irish working class It provides a comprehensive introduction to the involvement of Irish workers in political life and movements between 1830 and 1945 Fourteen leading Irish and international historians and political scientists trace the politicization of Irish workers during a period of considerable social and political turmoil The contributions include both surveys covering the entire period and case studies that provide new perspectives on crucial historical movements and moments This volume is a milestone in Irish labour and political historiography and an important contribution to the international literature on politics and the working class James Larkin: Lion of the Fold Donal Nevin, 2014-03-12 This book is a detailed compilation of writings and lectures about the life of James Larkin It reviews his influence in history and on various movements across the country and abroad James Larkin Lion of the Fold includes writing by James Larkin and is a timely reminder of the long road that the Irish people have travelled together The book considers much of the history of the early Irish Labour Movement and includes a vast range of opinion on James Larkin
