A History Of Writing Revised Edition:

From Writing To Computers Julian Warner, 2002-11-01 We do not need to look far for signs of divided consciousness with regard to books and computers For instance the United Kingdom Data Protection Act 1984 gave British subjects some rights of access to computer held information on themselves but not to paper records From Writing to Computers takes as its central theme the issue of a unifying intellectual principle to connect books and computers Julian Warner uses an approach based on semiotics and also draws on linguistics information science cognitive science philosophy and automata studies Covering a range of topics from the relations between speech and writing to transitions from orality to literacy and claims for a transition to an information society the author aims throughout to render complex ideas intelligible without loss of rigour From Writing to Computers addresses ordinary readers who as social beings and members of political communities are affected by and implicated in significant developments in methods for storing manipulating and communicating information It is also intended for students of the disciplines on which the book draws semiotics information studies linguistics computer science philosophy and psychology Academic Writing for Military Personnel, revised edition Adam Chapnick, Craig Stone, 2023-05-16 Academic Writing for Military Personnel is a manual for writing clear and effective academic prose Authored by an experienced writing instructor and a retired military officer both of whom teach in a professional military education institution it is designed for members of the armed forces who are entering or perhaps re entering the academic community and having spent much of their careers either writing in the professional military context or not writing at all The book not only teaches officers how to write convincingly but also explains why a sound grasp of academic writing can enhance their effectiveness in their regular duties particularly as they reach the more senior levels of service Chapters focus on the value of written communication skills the difference between professional staff and academic writing the research process the writing process academic professionalism and common writing problems and challenges A particularly innovative final chapter discusses how officers can use the knowledge that they have acquired through their professional experiences in the academic context Specific examples chosen with a military audience in mind are integrated throughout the text to provide the reader with relevant and practical guidance The revised edition incorporates new examples from a more diverse set of authors takes into account recent changes in communication technologies and reflects new advancements in the scholarship of teaching and learning As the only comprehensive guide to effective academic writing designed specifically for military personnel this book will be a crucial addition to the libraries of junior and senior officers in militaries worldwide Available formats trade paperback accessible PDF and accessible ePub Re-Imagining Writing: Interdisciplinary Perspectives Phil Fitzsimmons, Johanna Pentikäinen, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2014 Across the globe the nature of writing in the twentifirst century is coming under increasing scrutiny as technology becomes an ever increasing component of everyday life and as measuring human output also takes hold in many disciplines

This book offers an alternative to these twin developments providing instead many alternatives. Coming from an international set of authors with different world views, paradigms and praxes, the common theme of writing is explored with deep enthusiasm, interest in productivity and human capacity, and that leads to a polyphonic and progressive inquiry to the subject matter. Each author's initial contribution suggests that writing as an object of study needs reimagining, be it connected to learning, knowledge creation or artistic expression. Writing is a deeply person-centred process and its open, transformative and multidimensional nature escaped definitions but can be understood through the metaphor of the gift.

Empire and history writing in Britain c.1750-2012 Joanna de Groot, 2016-05-16 This wide-ranging and accessible book examines the effects of British imperial involvements on history writing in Britain since 1750. It provides a chronological account of the development of history writing in its social, political and cultural contexts and an analysis of the structural links between those involvements and the dominant concerns of that writing. The author looks at the impact of imperial and global expansion on the treatment of government of social structures and changes and of national and ethnic identity in scholarly and popular works, in school histories and in famous history books. In a clear and student-friendly way, the book argues that involvement in empire played a transformative and central role within history writing as whole, reframing its basic assumptions and language and sustaining a significant imperial influence across generations of writers and diverse types of historical text.

The Cultural Analysis of Texts Mikko Lehtonen, 2000-07-19 Drawing upon a range of perspectives from textual and cultural studies, this book synthesizes textual, contextual and audience analysis into an overall picture of meaning-making. Using examples ranging from Balzac to blonde jokes, modernist poetry to pop lyrics, the book discusses the factors that contribute to the formation of meaning, language, media, texts, contexts and readers. In the cultural study of texts, texts, contexts and practices are equally important, the author argues. Meaning-making takes place in the articulation between these different elements. But how can one examine all three areas at the same time? In The Cultural Analysis of Texts, Mikko Lehtonen develops a model to enable just such an approach.

Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margaretta Jolly, 2013-12-04 First published in 2001, this is the first substantial reference work in English on the various forms that constitute life writing. As this term suggests, the Encyclopedia explores not only autobiography and biography proper but also letters, diaries, memoirs, family histories, case histories and other ways in which individual lives have been recorded and structured. It includes entries on genres and subgenres, national and regional traditions from around the world and important autobiographical writers as well as articles on related areas such as oral history, anthropology, testimonies and the representation of life stories in non-verbal art forms.
