American Cinema Of The 1950s Themes And Variations:

American Cinema of the 1950s Murray Pomerance, 2006

American Cinema of the 1950s Murray

Pomerance, 2005 Bringing together original essays by ten respected scholars in the field American Cinema of the 1950s explores the impact of the cultural environment of this decade on film and the impact of film on the American cultural milieu Contributors examine the signature films of the decade including From Here to Eternity Sunset Blvd Singin in the Rain Shane Rear Window and Rebel Without a Cause as well as lesser known but equally compelling films such as Dial 1119 Mystery Street Suddenly Summer Stock The Last Hunt and many others

American Cinema of the 1950s Murray Pomerance, 2005

American Cinema of the 1950s explores the impact of the cultural environment of this decade on film and the impact of film on the American cultural milieu Provocative engaging and accessible to general readers as well as scholars this volume provides a unique lens through which to view the links between film and the prevailing social and historical events of the decade

Now a Major Motion Picture Christine Geraghty, 2008 Going beyond the process of adaptation Geraghty is more interested in the films themselves and how they draw on our sense of recall While a film reflects its literary source it also invites comparisons to our memories and associations with other versions of the original For example a viewer may watch the 2005 big screen production of Pride and Prejudice and remember Austen's novel as well as the BBC's 1995 television movie Adaptations also rely on the conventions of genre editing acting and sound to engage our recall elements that many movie critics tend to forget when focusing solely on faithfulness to the written word

History and Film Maarten

Pereboom, 2016-09-13 The ability to view recorded moving pictures has had a major impact on human culture since the development of the necessary technologies over a century ago For most of this time people have gone to the movies to be entertained and perhaps edified but in the meantime television the videocassette recorder VCR the digital versatile disk DVD player the personal computer desktop and laptop the internet and other technologies have made watching moving pictures possible at home in the classroom and just about anywhere else Today moving images are everywhere in our culture Every day moving picture cameras record millions of hours of activity human and otherwise all over the world your cell phone makes a little video of your friends at a party the surveillance camera at the bank keeps an eye on customers journalists shoulder carried cameras record the latest from the war zone and across the world film artists work on all kinds of movies from low budget independent projects to the next big budget Hollywood blockbuster Moving pictures have had a great influence on human culture and this book focuses on using moving images as historical evidence Studying history means examining evidence from the past to understand interpret and present what has happened in different times and places We talk and write about what we have learned hoping to establish credibility both for what we have determined to be the facts and for whatever meaning or significance we may attach to our reconstruction of the past Studying history is a scientific process involving a fairly set methodology We tend to favor written sources and we have tended to favor writing as a means of presenting our views of the past But historians also use all kinds of other documents and artifacts in their work of interpreting the past including moving pictures

Hollywood's America Steven Mintz, Randy W. Roberts, David Welky, 2016-01-04 Fully revised updated and extended the fifth edition of Hollywood's America provides an important compilation of interpretive essays and primary documents that allows students to read films as cultural artifacts within the contexts of actual past events A new edition of this classic textbook which ties movies into the broader narrative of US and film history This fifth edition contains nine new chapters with a greater overall emphasis on recent film history and new primary source documents which are unavailable online Entries range from the first experiments with motion pictures all the way to the present day Well organized within a chronological framework with thematic treatments to provide a valuable resource for students of the history of American film

The Social History of the American Family Marilyn J. Coleman, Lawrence H. The Bigamist Amelie Hastie, 2019-07-25 Directed by the actor film maker Ida Lupino The Bigamist 1953 is the story of Harry Graham a salesman travelling between two towns and two wives In its portrayal of Harry's double life the film takes on a double life of its own hovering as it does between two genres Telling the story through Harry's voice over yet eschewing the iconic character of the femme fatale Lupino's film reveals and recasts film noir as male melodrama par excellence In its rendering of this emotionally paralysed man The Bigamist is a fascinating study of the post War male A collaborative affair The Bigamist was written and produced by Lupino's ex husband Collier Young co starring his current wife Joan Fontaine as bride number one with Lupino in a turn as bride number two The last of five films that Lupino directed for the independent production company that she co founded The Filmakers it was notably the only film of its period with a woman director who also played a starring role Amelie Hastie explores the film in the context of Lupino's personal and professional history This is a film Hastie argues that reveals the changing structure of Hollywood film production in light of the emergence of independent studies it delineates the life and exemplifies the work of one of only two women directors in the Classical Hollywood era and it provides a complex commentary on the fantasies and fear of mid century domestic life in the USA Amelie Hastie is Associate Professor of Film and Digital Media at the University of California Santa Cruz She is the author of Cupboards of Curiosity Women Recollection and Film History 2007 Outlaw Heroes as Liminal Figures of Film and Television Rebecca A. Umland, 2016-04-27 Unlike such romanticized renegades as Robin Hood and Jesse James there is another kind of outlaw hero one who lives between the law and his own personal code In times of crisis when the law proves inadequate the liminal outlaw negotiates between the social imperatives of the community and his innate sense of right and wrong While society requires his services he necessarily remains apart from it in self preservation The modern outlaw hero of film and television is rooted in the knight errant whose violent exploits are tempered by his solitude and devotion to a higher ideal In Hollywood classics such as Casablanca 1942 and Shane 1953 and in early series like The Lone Ranger 1949 1957 and Have Gun Will Travel 1957 1963 the outlaw hero reconciles for audiences the conflicting impulses of individual freedom versus serving a larger cause Urban westerns like the Dirty Harry and Death Wish franchises as well as iconic action figures like Rambo and Batman testify to his enduring popularity This book examines the liminal hero's origins in medieval romance his survival in the mythology of the Hollywood western and his incarnations in the urban western and modern action film

Cinematic Flashes Rashna Wadia Richards, 2013 Cinematic Flashes challenges popular notions of a uniform Hollywood style by disclosing uncanny networks of incongruities coincidences and contingencies at the margins of the cinematic frame In an agile demonstration of cinephiliac historiography Rashna Wadia Richards extracts intriguing film fragments from their seemingly ordinary narratives in order to explore what these unexpected moments reveal about the studio era Inspired by Walter Benjamin's preference for studying cultural fragments rather than composing grand narratives this unorthodox history of the films of the studio system reveals how classical Hollywood emerges as a disjointed network of accidents excesses and coincidences
