Approaches to Teaching Momaday's The Way to Rainy Mountain Kenneth M. Roemer, 1988 Now at seventy three volumes this popular MLA series ISSN 10591133 addresses a broad range of literary texts Each volume surveys teaching aids and critical material and brings together essays that apply a variety of perspectives to teaching the text Upper level undergraduate and graduate students student teachers education specialists and teachers in all humanities disciplines will find these volumes particularly helpful American Literature and American Identity Patrick Colm Hogan, 2021-11-10 In recent years cognitive and affective science have become increasingly important for interpretation and explanation in the social sciences and humanities However little of this work has addressed American literature and virtually none has treated national identity formation in influential works since the Civil War In this book Hogan develops his earlier cognitive and affective analyses of national identity further exploring the ways in which such identity is integrated with cross culturally recurring patterns in story structure Hogan examines how authors imagined American identity understood as universal democratic egalitarianism in the face of the nation's clear and often brutal inequalities of race sex and sexuality exploring the complex and often ambivalent treatment of American identity in works by Charlotte Perkins Gilman Eugene O'Neill Lillian Hellman Djuna Barnes Amiri Baraka Margaret Atwood N Scott Momaday Spike Lee Leslie Marmon Silko Tony Kushner and Heidi Schreck Deep Waters Christopher B. Teuton, 2018-11-01 Weaving connections between indigenous modes of oral storytelling visual depiction and contemporary American Indian literature Deep Waters demonstrates the continuing relationship between traditional and contemporary Native American systems of creative representation and signification Christopher B Teuton begins with a study of Mesoamerican writings Din sand paintings and Haudenosaunee wampum belts He proposes a theory of how and why indigenous oral and graphic means of recording thought are interdependent their functions and purposes determined by social political and cultural contexts The center of this book examines four key works of contemporary American Indian literature by N Scott Momaday Gerald Vizenor Ray A Young Bear and Robert J Conley Through a textually grounded exploration of what Teuton calls the oral impulse the graphic impulse and the critical impulse we see how and why various types of contemporary Native literary production are interrelated and draw from long standing indigenous methods of creative representation Teuton breaks down the disabling binary of orality and literacy offering readers a cogent historically informed theory of indigenous textuality that allows for deeper readings of Native American cultural and literary expression

Contemporary American Indian Literatures and the Oral Tradition Susan Berry Brill de Ramírez, 1999-07-01 Because American Indian literatures are largely informed by their respective oral storytelling traditions they may be more difficult to understand or interpret than the more text based literatures with which most readers are familiar In this insightful new book Susan Berry Brill de Ram rez addresses the limitations of contemporary criticism and theory in opening up the worlds of story within American Indian literatures proposing instead a conversive approach for reading and understanding these works In order to fully understand American Indian literatures Brill de Ram rez explains that the reader must become a listener reader an active participant in the written stories To demonstrate this point she explores literary works both by established Native writers such as Sherman Alexie N Scott Momaday Leslie Marmon Silko and Luci Tapahonso and by less well known writers such as Anna Lee Walters Della Frank Lee Maracle and Louis Owens Through her literary engagements with many poems novels and short stories she demonstrates a new way to read and understand the diverse body of American Indian literatures Brill de Ram rez s conversive approach interweaves two interconnected processes co creating the stories by participating in them as listener readers and recognizing orally informed elements in the stories such as verbal minimalism and episodic narrative structures Because this methodology is rooted in American Indian oral storytelling traditions Native voices from these literary works are able to more directly inform the scholarly process than is the case in more textually based critical strategies Through this innovative approach Brill de Ram rez shows that literature is not a static text but an interactive and potentially transforming conversation between listener readers storyteller writers and the story characters as well Her book furthers the discussion of how to read American Indian and other orally informed literatures with greater sensitivity to their respective cultural traditions and shows that the immediacy of the relationship between teller story and listener can also be experienced in the relationships between writers literary works and their listener readers
