Aprisoners Of Myth The Leadership Of The Tennessee Valley:

Prisoners of Myth Erwin C. Hargrove, 1994-08-08 Prisoners of Myth is the first comprehensive history of the Tennessee Valley Authority from its creation to the present day. It is also a telling case study of organizational evolution and decline. Building on Philip Selznick's classic work TVA and the Grass Roots 1949, a seminal text in the theoretical study of bureaucracy, Erwin Hargrove analyzes the organizational culture of the TVA by looking at the actions of its leaders over six decades from the heroic years of the New Deal and World War II through the postwar period of consolidation and growth to the time of troubles from 1970 onward when the TVA ran afoul of environmental legislation, built a massive nuclear power program that it could not control, and sought new missions for which there were no constituencies. The founding myth of multipurpose regional development was inappropriately pursued in the 1970s and 80s by leaders who became prisoners of myth in their attempt to keep the TVA heroic. A decentralized organization which had worked well at the grass roots was difficult to redirect as the nuclear genie spun out of control. TVA autonomy from Washington, once a virtue, obscured political accountability. This study develops an important new theory about institutional performance in the face of historical change.

Comprehensive River Basin Development Barbara A. Miller, Richard B. Reidinger, 1998-01-01 The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) in the United States represents one of the few successful examples of comprehensive river basin development. Established to guide the development of the resources within the Tennessee River Basin, TVA operates a wide variety of water power, economic development, and environmental programs within the region. This report presents an overview of TVA's growth and development, its institutions, and its operational programs. The Politics of Fresh Water Catherine M. Ashcraft, Tamar Mayer, 2016-12-08 Water scarcity is not simply the result of what nature has to offer but always involves power relations and political decisions. This volume discusses the politics of the freshwater crisis, specifically how access to water is determined in different regions and historical periods, how conflict is constructed and managed, and how identity and efforts to control water systems through development technologies and institutions shape one another. The book analyzes responses to the water crisis as efforts to mitigate water insecurity and as expressions of collective identity that legitimate, resist, or seek to transform existing inequalities. The chapters focus on different processes that contribute to freshwater scarcity, including land use decisions, pollution, privatization, damming, climate change, discrimination, water management institutions, and technology. Case studies are included from North and South America, Africa, Asia, Europe, and New Zealand.

Prisoners of Myth Erwin C. Hargrove, 2001 Given by Jerry Thompkins The Statesman's Year-Book, 1996-7 B. Hunter, 2016-12-27 The 133rd edition of The Statesman's Year Book is completely revised and updated. Widely respected as an authoritative and accessible reference work, The Statesman's Year Book provides the basic building blocks of knowledge about any country in the world: constitution and government, international relations, industry, agriculture, trade, and social issues. Known as a people, events, and statistics work, this year's edition includes accounts of the latest developments in trouble spots such as Bosnia Israel and Northern Ireland and records the results of recent elections in Italy Austria Spain and Turkey

The Hungry World Nick Cullather, 2011-04-01 Food was a critical front in the Cold War battle for Asia Where Communism goes hunger follows was the slogan of American nation builders who fanned out into the countryside to divert rivers remodel villages and introduce tractors chemicals and genes to multiply the crops consumed by millions This green revolution has been credited with averting Malthusian famines saving billions of lives and jump starting Asia's economic revival Bono and Bill Gates hail it as a model for revitalizing Africa's economy But this tale of science triumphant conceals a half century of political struggle from the Afghan highlands to the rice paddies of the Mekong Delta a campaign to transform rural societies by changing the way people eat and grow food The ambition to lead Asia into an age of plenty grew alongside development theories that targeted hunger as a root cause of war Scientific agriculture was an instrument for molding peasants into citizens with modern attitudes loyalties and reproductive habits But food policies were as contested then as they are today While Kennedy and Johnson envisioned Kansas style agribusiness guarded by strategic hamlets Indira Gandhi Marcos and Suharto inscribed their own visions of progress onto the land Out of this campaign the costliest and most sustained effort for development ever undertaken emerged the struggles for resources and identity that define the region today As Obama revives the lost arts of Keynesianism and counter insurgency the history of these colossal projects reveals bitter and important lessons for today's missions to feed a hungry world

The Oxford Handbook of Political Leadership R. A. W. Rhodes, Paul 't Hart, 2014-05-29 Political leadership has made a comeback It was studied intensively not only by political scientists but also by political sociologists and psychologists Sovietologists political anthropologists and by scholars in comparative and development studies from the 1940s to the 1970s Thereafter the field lost its way with the rise of structuralism neo institutionalism and rational choice approaches to the study of politics government and governance Recently however students of politics have returned to studying the role of individual leaders and the exercise of leadership to explain political outcomes The list of topics is nigh endless elections conflict management public policy government popularity development governance networks and regional integration In the media age leaders are presented and stage managed spun DDLas the solution to almost every social problem Through the mass media and the Internet citizens and professional observers follow the rise impact and fall of senior political officeholders at closer quarters than ever before This Handbook encapsulates the resurgence by asking where are we today It orders the multidisciplinary field by identifying the distinct and distinctive contributions of the disciplines It meets the urgent need to take stock It brings together scholars from around the world encouraging a comparative perspective to provide a comprehensive coverage of all the major disciplines methods and regions It showcases both the normative and empirical traditions in political leadership studies and juxtaposes behavioural institutional and interpretive approaches It covers formal office based as well as informal emergent political leadership and in both democratic and undemocratic polities

The Justice Factory Richard Clements, 2024-01-18 Explores

why global justice and management have become so intimately connected within the ICC and with what effects Valley So Low Jared Sullivan, 2024-10-15 A riveting courtroom drama about the victims of one of the largest environmental disasters in U S history and the country lawyer determined to challenge the notion that in America justice can be bought For more than fifty years a power plant in the small town of Kingston Tennessee burned fourteen thousand tons of coal a day gradually creating a mountain of ashen waste sixty feet high and covering eighty four acres contained only by an earthen embankment In 2008 just before Christmas that embankment broke unleashing a lethal wave of coal sludge that covered three hundred acres damaged nearly thirty homes and precipitating a cleanup effort that would cost more than a billion dollars and the lives of more than fifty cleanup workers who inhaled the toxins it released Jim Scott a local personal injury lawyer agreed to represent the workers after they began to fall ill That meant doing legal battle against the Tennessee Valley Authority a colossal federally owned power company that had once been a famous cornerstone of President Franklin D Roosevelt s New Deal Scott and his hastily assembled team gathered extensive evidence of malfeasance threats against workers retaliatory firings disregarded safety precautions and test results either hidden or altered that would have revealed harmful concentrations of arsenic lead and radioactive materials at the cleanup site At every stage Scott outmanned and nearly broke had to overcome legal hurdles constructed by TVA and the firm it hired to help execute the cleanup He grew especially close to one of the victims whose swift decline only intensified his hunger for justice As the incriminating evidence mounted the workers seemed to have everything on their side including the truth and yet was it all enough to prevail The lawsuit that Scott pursued on the workers behalf was about their illnesses no doubt But it was also about whether blue collar employees could beat the C suite if self described hillbilly lawyers could beat elite corporate defense attorneys and whether strong evidence could beat fat pocketbooks With suspense and rich detail Jared Sullivan s thrilling account lays bare the casual brutality of the American justice system and calls into question whether and how the federal government has failed its people

Dry Bones Rattling Mark R. Warren, 2010-09-13 Dry Bones Rattling offers the first in depth treatment of how to rebuild the social capital of America s communities while promoting racially inclusive democratic participation The Industrial Areas Foundation IAF network in Texas and the Southwest is gaining national attention as a model for reviving democratic life in the inner city and beyond This richly drawn study shows how the IAF network works with religious congregations and other community based institutions to cultivate the participation and leadership of Americans most left out of our elite centered politics Interfaith leaders from poor communities of color collaborate with those from more affluent communities to build organizations with the power to construct affordable housing create job training programs improve schools expand public services and increase neighborhood safety In clear and accessible prose Mark Warren argues that the key to revitalizing democracy lies in connecting politics to community institutions and the values that sustain them By doing so the IAF network builds an organized multiracial constituency with the power to advance desperately needed social policies While Americans are most aware of the religious right Warren documents the growth of progressive faith based politics in America He offers a realistic yet hopeful account of how this rising trend can transform the lives of people in our most troubled neighborhoods Drawing upon six years of original fieldwork Dry Bones Rattling proposes new answers to the problems of American democracy community life race relations and the urban crisis
