- Cory talked at length about Ninoy's toil and suffering at the hands of the dictatorship that he resisted.

History is the study of the past, but Geoffrey Barraclough defines history as "the attempt to discover, on the basis of fragmentary evidence, the significant things about past."

Code of Kalantiaw - it is a mythical legal code in the epic history Maragtas. Before it was revealed as a hoax, it was a source of pride for the people of Aklan. In fact, a historical marker was installed in the town of Batan, Aklan in 1956.

"CODE OF KALANTIAW. Datu Bendehara Kalantiaw, third chief of Panay born in Aklan, established his government in the peninsula of Batang, Aklan Sakup. Considered the first Filipino Lawgiver, he promulgated in about 1433 a penal code now known as Code of Kalantiaw containing 18 articles. Don Marcelino Orilla of Zaragoza, Spain, obtained the original manuscript from an old chief of Panay which was translated into Spanish by Rafael Murviedo Yzamaney."

Laws of the Code of Kalantiaw

Article I - You shall not kill, neither shall you steal, neither shall you do harm to the aged, lest you incur the danger of death. All those who infringe this order shall be condemned to death by being drowned in the river, or in boiling water.

Article II - You shall obey. Let all your debts with the headman be met punctually. He who does not obey shall receive for the first time one hundred lashes. If the debt is large, he shall be condemned to thrust his hand in boiling water thrice. For the second time, he shall be beaten to death.

Article III - Obey you, let no one have women that are very young nor more than he can support, nor be given to excessive lust. He who does not comply with, obey, and observe this order shall be condemned to swim for three hours for the first time and for the second time, to be beaten to death with sharp thorns.

Article IV - Observe and obey, let no one disturb the quiet of the graves. When passing by the caves and trees where they are, give respect to them. He who does not observe this shall be killed by ants, or beaten to death with thorns.
