Behavioural Gerontology:

Behavioural Gerontology D. B. Bromley, 1995-08-18 The aim of this book is to provide a framework for and a critique of those areas of scientific enquiry which constitute the psychology of human ageing The central issues addressed include cognition motivation and emotion International Handbook of Cognitive and Behavioural Treatments for

Psychological Disorders V.E. Caballo, 1998-11-27 This handbook shows the wide perspective cognitive behavioural treatment can offer to health professionals the vast majority of whom now recognize that cognitive behavioural procedures are very useful in treating many mental disorders even if certain disciplines continue to favour other kinds of treatment This book offers a wide range of structured programmes for the treatment of various psychological psychiatric disorders as classified by the DSM IV The layout will be familiar to the majority of health professionals in the description of mental disorders and their later treatment It is divided into seven sections covering anxiety disorders sexual disorders dissociative somatoform impulse control disorders emotional disorders and psychotic and organic disorders Throughout the twenty three chapters this book offers the health professional a structured guide with which to start tackling a whole series of mental disorders and offers pointers as to where to find more detailed information The programmes outlined should it is hoped prove more effective than previous approaches with lower economic costs and time investment for the patient and therapist

Behavior Science H. W. Reese, L. J. Parrott, 2014-02-24 First published in 1986 This volume presents a selection of advances in the field of behaviour science in psychology It can be used as a pick up guide with chapters arranged into three kinds of advances theoretical or philosophical empirical and methodological The preface includes a summary of each of the chapters which range from the role of theory in the behaviour analysis of private events to the use of residential laboratories with programmed environments for the study of behaviours Brocklehurst's Textbook of Geriatric Medicine and

Gerontology E-Book Howard M. Fillit, Kenneth Rockwood, John B Young, 2016-05-06 The leading reference in the field of geriatric care Brocklehurst's Textbook of Geriatric Medicine and Gerontology 8th Edition provides a contemporary global perspective on topics of importance to today's gerontologists internal medicine physicians and family doctors An increased focus on frailty along with coverage of key issues in gerontology disease specific geriatrics and complex syndromes specific to the elderly makes this 8th Edition the reference you'll turn to in order to meet the unique challenges posed by this growing patient population Consistent discussions of clinical manifestations diagnosis prevention treatment and more make reference quick and easy More than 250 figures including algorithms photographs and tables complement the text and help you find what you need on a given condition Clinical relevance of the latest scientific findings helps you easily apply the material to everyday practice A new chapter on frailty plus an emphasis on frailty throughout the book addresses the complex medical and social issues that affect care and the specific knowledge and skills essential for meeting your patients complex needs New content brings you up to date with information on gerontechnology emergency and pre hospital care HIV and aging intensive treatment of older adults telemedicine the built environment and transcultural geriatrics New editor Professor John Young brings a fresh perspective and unique expertise to this edition Ageing and Mental Handicap

James Hogg, Steve Moss, Diana Cooke, 2024-05-10 In the 1980s there was growing interest in the topic of ageing and learning disabilities for two principal reasons First the life expectancy of people with learning disabilities had risen significantly over the previous decades and many once infancy had been survived could expect a life span similar to that of non disabled people Secondly a growing commitment on the part of the government and service providers to make provision for people with disabilities in the community rather than in institutions had focused attention on this group Originally published in 1988 reissued here with a new foreword this book was one of the first on this subject It examines epidemiology and mortality and medical and psychiatric issues compared with non disabled older people It considers how people with learning disabilities change in intellectual and adaptive function with age the nature of family relationships relevant therapeutic programmes and policy and the development of services The book represented a major review of a hitherto neglected topic and would interest gerontologists psychologists and professional health social and educational staff concerned with the welfare of older people with learning disabilities This book is a re issue originally published in 1988 The language used is a reflection of its era and no offence is meant by the Publishers to any reader by this re publication Behavioural Gerontology Dennis Basil

Although we speak of the elderly as if there were one body of people with common characteristics older adults are more heterogeneous than any other population People over the age of 65 are also the fastest growing segment of the population in the United States currently numbering 25 million The majority of older adults reside in their communities a small fraction of them are cared for in institutions Most may expect to experience some kind of physical impairment Approximately a quarter of the population may expect to suffer a mental health impairment While traditional therapies have not been especially effective for older adults behavior therapy has shown exceptional promise as a treatment modality This book presents a comprehensive explication of the relatively new field of behavioral gerontology It was written for the clinician interested in the interaction of medical environmental and psychological variables and their effects on treatment of elderly clients and for the researcher who will be looking to extend knowledge about interventions with this population It will be useful for the graduate student in clinical psychology as well as the experienced clinician who will want to include the elderly in his or her therapeutic population Gerontological Concerns and Responses in India Mala Kapur Shankardass, 2021-09-18 This book discusses gerontological issues and challenges impacting the quality of life of older people in India The chapters provide different disciplinary insights ranging from sociology anthropology psychology health sciences social work demography gender and legal perspectives The chapters are written by experts and practitioners in the field bringing focus to new gerontological insights from an academic and an empirical perspective It engages the reader with the growth of different branches of gerontology along with concerns faced by older people It brings attention to concerns related to ageing of the population in different parts of the country such as among the tribes the LGBT community and conflict zones It highlights gender aspects related to health care and discusses policy responses strategies to empower older persons the role of voluntary organizations issues related to caregiving and family bonding and aspects of social protection for the older people It offers a valuable resource for researchers academics practitioners and policymakers in the areas of gerontology demography and sociology as well as all those interested in the study of ageing populations

Developmental Perspectives on Motivation Janis E. Jacobs, 1993-01-01 Some of the best current work on the development of motivation is presented in this fortieth volume of the Nebraska Symposium on Motivation The diverse approaches for conceptualizing and studying motivational development psychology that extends the traditional area of achievement motivation Some major themes emerge the conceptualization of the self the internal and external factors that affect development of motivations and the choices that result from one's motivations Richard Ryan's opening chapter places the entire work in context by describing historical and theoretical perspectives on developmental and psychosocial models used to understand motivation Mihaly Csikszentmihaly and Kevin Rathunde also focus on intrinsic motivation but with a greater focus on flow the experience of full involvement with an activity Susan Harter discusses the roles of the I self and the me self research models Jacquelynne S Eccles stresses the link between the social contexts of family and school and the motivational constructs related to achievement and choice of activity Laura L Carstensen maintains Eccles's focus on the importance of choice of activity but concentrates on the later stages in life when social contact declines as a result of changing social and emotional motivations The volume concludes with a summary analyzing the contributors' descriptions of the diverse but complementary aspects of developmental processes and theory

Challenging Behaviour in Dementia Graham Stokes, 2017-07-05 Understanding socially disruptive behavior in dementia is never easy Most explanations offer neither solace nor solutions for families and carers and treatment is often characterized by policies of control and containment The result of Graham Stokes 15 years of clinical work with people who are challenging this book disputes the traditional medical model of dementia and asserts that if we reach behind the barrier of cognitive devastation and decipher the cryptic messages it can be shown that much behavior is not meaningless but meaningful It contrasts the medical interpretation that sees anti social behavior as mere symptoms of disease with a person centered interpretation that resonates change and resolution It offers a radical and innovative interpretation of challenging behavior consistent with the new culture of dementia care focusing on needs to be met rather than problems to be managed

Enjoying the Song of Term: An Emotional Symphony within Behavioural Gerontology

In a global used by displays and the ceaseless chatter of immediate communication, the melodic splendor and mental symphony created by the published word often disappear into the back ground, eclipsed by the persistent noise and interruptions that permeate our lives. But, located within the pages of Behavioural Gerontology a charming literary treasure brimming with fresh feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced.
