Rick Poynor

Advertising Outdoors Watch This Space:

Advertising Outdoors David Bernstein, 1997-10-16 Outdoor advertising is one of the oldest and purest forms of communication From the earliest painted Roman walls to the latest video walls and laser projections in Times Square and Piccadilly Circus commercial signs have been ubiquitous This text charts this dynamic exterior medium looking at the art and ingenuity of art directors and copywriters who devise the artwork and ideas and exploring how their creative input drives an industry that supplies large scale frames billboards transit shelters bus sides train cards phone boxes taxis airships and many other locations

Engaging Classrooms and Communities Through Art Beth Krensky, Seana Lowe Steffen, 2009 The book combines case studies with diverse groups across the country that are using different media including mural arts dance and video with an informed introduction to the theory and history of community based art It is a perfect handbook for those looking to transform their communities through art

Advertising and Public Memory Stefan Schutt, Sam Roberts, Leanne White, 2016-08-05 This is the first scholarly collection to examine the social and cultural aspects on the worldwide interest in the faded remains of advertising signage popularly known as ghost signs Contributors to this volume examine the complex relationships between the signs and those who commissioned them painted them viewed them and view them today Topics covered include cultural memory urban change modernity and belonging local history and place making the crowd sourced use of online mobile and social media to document and share digital artefacts retro design and the resurgence in interest in the handmade The book is international and interdisciplinary combining academic analysis and critical input from practitioners and researchers in areas such as cultural studies destination marketing heritage advertising design social history and commercial archaeology

Ambient Screens and Transnational Public Spaces Nikos Papastergiadis, 2016-07-01 Large public screens have now become a ubiquitous part of the contemporary cityscape Far from being simply oversized televisions the media experts contributing to Ambient Screens and Transnational Public Spaces put forward a strong case that such screens could serve as important sites for cultural exchange Advances in digital technology spell the possibilities of conducting mobile modes of interaction across national boundaries and in the process expose the participants to novel sensory experiences giving rise to a new form of public culture Understanding this phenomenon calls for a reconceptualization of public space and ambience as well as connecting the two concepts with each other This pioneering study of the impact of media platforms on urban cultural life presents a theoretical analysis and a history of screens followed by discussions of site specific urban screen practices on five continents There is also a substantial examination of the world's first real time cross cultural exchange via the networking of large public screens located in Melbourne and Seoul Ambient Screens and Transnational Public Spaces is a provocative interdisciplinary collection that studies public screens in diverse urban contexts ranging from Shanghai to Montreal Taken together these essays redefine commonly held notions about cultural policy information citizenship and the quotidian experiences of the Media City A must read for anyone interested in urban media studies and cultural planning Janine Marchessault Professor of Cinema and Media Studies York University Large screens in public spaces are almost taken for granted in some cities while in others they are barely present This fascinating book provokes new thinking about mediatization as a transformative dimension of urban life The editor and authors deserve to be congratulated for a welcome and timely volume demonstrating how large screens in cities transform public spaces and become a platform for new modes of cultural exchange Lily Kong Lee Kong Chian Chair Professor of Social Sciences Singapore Management University

Designing Pornotopia Rick Poynor, 2006 In this collection of essays about visual culture Rick Poynor directs a critical eye at brands billboards magazine architecture tattoos and trends in cosmetic surgery A key target is the pervasiveness of sexual imagery in the market place and the media s symbiotic relationship with porn

Negotiating the Mediated City Zlatan Krajina, 2013-11-26 This book is an interdisciplinary empirical investigation of how people interact with public screens in their daily lives In more and more surprising locations screens of various kinds appear within the sightlines of passers by in contemporary cities Outdoor advertisers target audiences which are increasingly mobile public art uses screens to interrogate urban change while postmodern architecture finds electronic imagery a suitable tool of expression Traditionally urban sociology research has assumed that people seek to filter urban stimuli but recent accounts of public screens suggest producers design and position display interfaces site specifically so as to engage with those moving past This study offers insight both into the dynamics of actual encounters and into the long term process of how people learn to live with repeated invitations to consume media in public spaces The book includes four cases street advertising underground transport advertising and installation art in London UK and media facade architecture in Zadar Croatia Krajina shows that maintaining familiarity with everyday surroundings in media cities that change beyond citizens control is a temporary achievement and a recursive struggle Finalist for the Jane Jacobs Urban Communication Foundation book award 2014 Applied Linguistics & Communities of Practice Srikant Sarangi, 2003-08-01 The papers in this volume demonstrate the strides applied linguists have taken in pure or impure form since the classic volume of Corder's Introducing Applied Linguistics speculated about the discipline's possible frontiers With a judicious combination of empirical theoretical and policy oriented studies the volume takes a close hard look at the present and future challenges Selling Architectural Ideas Tom Porter, 2003-09-02 As visual animals architects continue to live and work in a pictorial age in which image making remains the central activity of environmental design Selling Architectural Ideas explores the promotional role of architectural graphics and drawing at the point of communication i e at their point of sale By substituting the words communication and presentation with the word selling we confront the reality of a highly competitive world in which the process of creating images for selling architectural ideas is approached as a more persuasive and therefore more successful design tool
