Aesthéticienne Helping People Look And Feel Good:

The Violence Within/the Violence Without Jacqueline Vaught Brogan, 2003 Wallace Stevens 1879 1955 one of the leading poets of the twentieth century continues to influence a wide range of poets writing today However an image persists of Stevens as an aesthete who was politically removed from his times and who also exhibited sexist and racist tendencies Jacqueline Vaught Brogan offers careful readings from across the Stevens canon to demonstrate that contrary to such enduring earlier assessments Stevens's work over the years shows poetic and political changes that merge with his growing ethical concerns Brogan traces Stevens's evolving poetic practices along three major lines that often intersected She situates the beginnings of Stevens's development within his early resistance to the pressures of reality on the imagination an artistic stand that pitted him against the objective poetry exemplified in the work of William Carlos Williams Then in the midst of Stevens's career World War II moved him forward with new poetic responsibilities both to witness the current world and to guide readers into their future The emergence of an almost feminist vision defines Stevens's third line of development Finally in addition to identifying these developmental stages Brogan addresses the undercurrent of race throughout Stevens's work According to Brogan Stevens not only changed but matured over time What began as an aesthetic violence within or a girding against such violence without as social unrest and war rapidly evolved during Stevens's middle years into a set of perceptions and practices increasingly responsive to his times

surprisingly broad sectors of French society from health and social workers to skilled laborers journalists and educators it is a situated call for a pragmatics of reading that makes of each book an intervention into the fabric of the real Harnessing sources in affect theory trauma studies ethics and cognitive science Alexandre Gefen performs a critically reparative act all his own reminding us that the notion of literature as autonomous object was itself a historical construct in short an ideology Reading and writing have always conjoined care for the self and care for others and it is upon that reciprocity that the communities of sense of tomorrow can flourish in a spirit of reparative humanism Derek Schilling Professor of French Director of the Centre Louis Marin Department of Modern Languages and Literatures Johns Hopkins University USA Alexandre Gefen's wide ranging thought provoking study takes stock of a paradigm shift in contemporary French literature away from a model of autonomy and intransitivity to ways of writing and reading that seek to repair restore reassure and rebuild From the varied forms of expressivity found in self narratives to the empathetic projections of fiction Repair the World maps out an expanding literary territory that seeks not critical negativity but rather the power to intervene for good in individual and collective life While reserving judgment on the actual extent of literature's effects Gefen demonstrates that contemporary projects and discourses undeniably center the therapeutic and remediative uses of literature With its nuanced readings and keen insights Repair the World has been rightly influential in France its powerful diagnosis of contemporary sensibilities resonates far beyond revealing both the promises and predicaments of literature in the twenty first century Alison James Professor of French and Chair of the Department of Romance Languages and Literatures at the University of Chicago USA What would it mean to ask Sartre's post war question What is literature in the 21st century In this wonderful essay Alexandre Gefen argues convincingly that the main purpose of literature today is to repair a broken world and memorialise forgotten lives Taking examples from predominantly contemporary French literature he proposes that literature as therapy has replaced religions of salvation a politics of emancipation and formal experimentation Today literature's mission is to heal traumatised individuals and communities resurrect the lives of the vulnerable and commemorate their deeds in the face of the forces of oblivion For Gefen Patrick Modiano's Dora Bruder 1997 is the contemporary literary archetype of these lost identities to be rehabilitated and reinhabited Gefen describes this new role for literature without taking sides the writing is lucid compelling and non partisan In an age of victimhood testimony empathy self expression and identity Gefen's reparative paradigm is as persuasive as Sartre's political version in the age of ideology Max Silverman Professor of Modern French Studies University of Leeds UK

The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science, Art, and Finance ,1864 Romantic Things Mary Jacobus,2012-09-01 Our thoughts are shaped as much by what things make of us as by what we make of them Lyric poetry is especially concerned with things and their relationship to thought sense and understanding In Romantic Things Mary Jacobus explores the world of objects and phenomena in nature as expressed in Romantic poetry alongside the theme of sentience and sensory deprivation in literature and art Jacobus

discusses objects and attributes that test our perceptions and preoccupy both Romantic poetry and modern philosophy John Clare John Constable Rainer Maria Rilke W G Sebald and Gerhard Richter make appearances around the central figure of William Wordsworth as Jacobus explores trees rocks clouds breath sleep deafness and blindness in their work While she thinks through these things she is assisted by the writings of Maurice Merleau Ponty Jacques Derrida and Jean Luc Nancy Helping us think more deeply about things that are at once visible and invisible seen and unseen felt and unfeeling Romantic Things opens our eyes to what has been previously overlooked in lyric and Romantic poetry Mass Society and Its Culture, and Three Essays concerning Etienne Gilson on Bergson, Christian Philosophy, and Art Étienne Gilson, Henri Gouhier, 2023-01-24 A medievalist and defender of the notion of Christian philosophy Etienne Gilson had a lifelong interest in the philosophy of art He questioned whether what is reproduced as art in contemporary society is art at all This is not a simple issue A cheap version of a novel is still a novel A picture of a statue is not a statue nor indeed is a photograph of a painting a painting Recorded music has particular complications The organizer of an industrial assembly line is neither an artist nor an artisan Yet thanks to such mass production a much broader population has knowledge of artworks than would otherwise be possible Religions must minister to mass societies and provide appropriate liturgies But in the process there is a danger of misrepresenting complex religious teachings At the end of his own life Henri Gouhier Gilson s first doctoral student prepared three essays on Gilson The first on Bergson gives a sense of Gilson s formation in early twentieth century French philosophy The second reconstructs the development of the notion of Christian philosophy and the heated controversy it provoked Finally Gouhier presents Gilson s general philosophy of art and gives a helpful framework to Gilson s comments on art in a mass society Composing the Citizen Jann Pasler, 2009-07-06 In a book that challenges modernist ideas about the value and role of music in Western society Composing the Citizen demonstrates how music can help forge a nation Deftly exploring the history of Third Republic France Jann Pasler shows how French people from all classes and political persuasions looked to music to revitalize the country after the turbulent crises of 1871 Embraced not as a luxury but for its public utility music became an object of public policy as integral to modern life as power and water a way to teach critical judgment and inspire national pride It helped people to forget the past voice conflicting aspirations and imagine a shared future Based on a dazzling survey of archival material Pasler s rich interdisciplinary work looks beyond elites and the histories their agendas have dominated to open new windows onto the musical tastes and practices of amateurs as well as professionals A fascinating history of the period emerges one rooted in political realities and the productive tensions between the political and the aesthetic Highly evocative and deeply humanistic Composing the Citizen ignites broad debates about music s role in democracy and its meaning in our lives
